

Water Supply Contaminated States P. H. I.

The regular meeting of the council was held on Tuesday evening. Present, Mayor Pattinson, Councillors White, Antrobus, Atkinson and Balloch. Absent, Councillors Kerr and Chapman.

Luigi Denotaris, formerly of Blairmore, was granted permission to operate a shoe repair shop on payment of the $25 license fee.

Floyd Celli, of the Palm Confectionery, was granted permission to remove the present sign on his premises and replace it with a modern sign. Chief of Police Antel was authorized to inspect the work.

A letter was received from a widowed taxpayer, stating she would be unable to pay her current taxes. The letter was filed with no action taken.

Mike Korman asked council to remove the large "Welcome to Coleman" sign which is located at the east end of Main street, he having built a house immediately behind it. The request was granted.

Council will ask Coleman Light & Water the reason why they have failed to install lights into the Frank Smalek residence.

A new arrangement was drawn up in respect to the late A. E. Knowles properties, and will be added to in future.

A letter was received from The Coleman Journal, drawing the council's attention to the obvious error in the assessed land value, it being more than the assessed lots on Main street. The council were agreed that there had been a wrong assessment and would adjust it for 1940 assessment notices, it being too late to make any adjustment this year.

To aid the band in purchasing uniforms, a grant of $50 was given.

A report was received from Provincial Health Inspector Butterfield, of Edmonton, stating that the samples of water taken from Coleman, July 6, and analyzed in Edmonton were very unfavorable. The council will request the department to forward a number of water receptacles, so that they can forward water samples from the town's drinking water each month.

A Letter From Texas

A year rolls round so very fast—at least it seems so when we hear from Don J. MacNeil, who is living at Wichita Falls, Texas, being with the Shell Petroleum Corporation.

In enclosing a postal note for his renewal subscription, he states: "To us, it is a very willing expenditure, because we get a great deal of pleasure in reading the Coleman Journal. Needless to say we miss our friends in the Crows Nest Pass, and we are hoping some day that my work will take us back to the old scenes."

Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

20th Annual Convention at Niagara Falls, August 14-15, 1939.
(Installment Number 1)

This Association is representative of weekly newspapers from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island, both of which were represented at the convention at the General Brock hotel, as well as all provinces of Canada. Nearly 300 were registered. Publishers and their wives from the western provinces, journeying east by rail, and some via the Great Lakes, joined the main party at Toronto, which included many from the Maritime provinces, the majority being from Ontario.

A two-and-a-half hours train journey through the Niagara peninsula revealed to westerners the beauty and fertility of the district, where grapes are grown in profusion, as well as other fruits. Hamilton, a city of many industries, was viewed briefly, and was teeming with activity. Arriving at Niagara, the party was quickly conveyed to the hotel, built on a splendid site, from which an excellent view of the Falls is obtained, and immediately overlooking the spot where the bridge was before it was swept away by the gigantic ice jam of January, 1937. The hotel is named in honor of General Brock, of Queens Heights fame, a splendid monument in the form of a column similar to the Nelson monument in Trafalgar Square, London. E. J. standing out boldly in the national park at Queenston.

The opening social event of the convention was a reception to the visitors in the Blue Room of the hotel, tendered by Mr. Frank Prendergast, of Imperial Oil Limited, which put them in a happy congenial mood for the welcoming luncheon in the Crystal Ball Room, through the courtesy of J. G. Johnston and Associates, public relations counsel, of Toronto and Montreal. Mr. Johnston presiding. Here a welcome was extended by Mayor Carl Hanniwell, a young man who has for several years served the city, first as councillor, and later as mayor. He outlined briefly the progress of the city, but deplored the increasing costs of relief, the City of Niagara having to devote one tenth of its income, apart from federal and provincial aid, towards relief. He believed and had advocated the encouragement of industrial enterprise by governments whereby they could employ more men, instead of handing out huge sums for relief. Formerly a believer in Socialism, he later realized that government interference in business was detrimental to industrial initiative and expansion, and that more employment would be furnished if business interests, instead of having increasingly heavy taxes imposed to pay for relief, were assured that taxes "could be lightened and thereby plans carried out for further expansion of their various enterprises. He paid tribute to the Ontario Municipal Affairs Department, which has permitted the council's program of economy last year to be reflected in a two-mill reduction in the tax rate. "If all municipalities were partially supervised, they would be somewhat better off financially," His Worship said. "Councils are too prone to listen to every delegation which comes along."

Louis Blake Duff, the guest speaker at the luncheon, a polished orator who delightfully mixes humor with history, stated that one of the greatest blessings we have is to live beside a neighbor of goodwill. Pointing to the fact that 125 years have elapsed since the soldiers of the United States and Canada last took arms against each other, he said:

"We have no expectation but that their country and ours will walk down the avenue of years ahead in understanding and co-operation."

In the afternoon of the first day of the convention, Dean M. Lyle M. Spencer, of Syracuse University, addressed the newspapermen on "The Weekly Press of Tomorrow, or What Must We Do to be Saved." Himself a former newspaper publisher, his address was of a valuable, practical nature.

WELCOMED VISITORS

MAYOR CARL D. HANNIWELL.

Niagara Falls, Ontario.
35 Years old, youngest mayor in Canada; completing his second term, having been re-elected this year by acclamation.

Is an insurance broker, graduate of Queen's University, has conducted his own business for eleven years.

Was in office as youngest master in Canada.

Active Kiwanian.
Hobbies: fishing, flowers.
Married, and has one son, David.

While the men were at their sessions, the ladies of the party were taken on a shopping tour under the direction of the social editor of the Niagara Falls Review, an excellent editor, whose charming and business-like reporter, Miss Winnifred Stokes, who is also vice-president of Ontario local journalists, capably covered the convention proceedings for her paper and Canadian Press.

On their return they were the guests of Mr. Ronald Peck, courteous manager of the General Brock hotel, at afternoon tea in the Rainbow Roof Garden.

The day's activities concluded with a dinner at the Park Restaurant by courtesy of the Niagara Parks Commission, Hon. W. L. Houck presiding. The restaurant, capable of accommodating several hundreds, is in close proximity to the Falls, in a beautiful park, and from which at night a splendid view is obtained of the Falls, illuminated by colored lights of myriad changing hues. The guest speaker was Dr. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian Travel Bureau, Department of Transport, Ottawa, who gave an outstanding array of figures indicating the enormous value of tourist business to Canada. A point in his address which was very significant was that of emphasizing the importance of maintaining a distinctly Canadian atmosphere in all our resorts, for American visitors came to Canada for a distinct change, and he urged publishers to point out that Americans did not think any more of those who flew American flags over their hot dog roadside stands. By keeping our resorts distinctly Canadian, the charm was retained which appealed so strongly to the visitors from across the international boundary.

This dinner in fairyland-like surroundings closed the day, and it was at rather tired but happy party which wended its way back to the hotel headquarters, while thousands of people were grouped for over a along the boulevards enjoying, ever-changing colors on the Falls.

(Further details of the convention and a visit to the New York V Fair will be published in future issues.—H.T.H.)

Mr. G. W. Power, manager of Calgary Brewery, Calgary, was a business visitor at the Grand Union hotel last week. Renovations to the hotel will start immediately the final o.k. has been given the plans at Calgary.

Colemanites seen at McBain's lake on Sunday last include Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Short and Alan, and Mrs. Gordon Nurcombe, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gate and family.

IMPRESSIONS OF NIAGARA FALLS

(by H. T. Halliwell)

THE ROAR OF Niagara!

It impresses you on your arrival. Millions of gallons every minute falling over a precipice a distance of about 200 feet, forced into a narrow gorge—the famous Niagara Gorge—it rushes on its turbulent way to Lake Ontario. You gaze at the rapids below the falls; they have a peculiar fascination by day or night. Niagara is famous not only for the falls, but for honeymooners—and suicide point. One with a grim sense of humor, or a sense of grim humor, stated that the disappointed ones returned to Niagara, the scene of the original crime, to end it all. You can take it for just what it's worth; it amuses one. The local yarn to the effect that the only hanging that ever took place in Niagara peninsula was that of a Scot, who pushed his fat, juicy wife over the precipice into the whirlpool rapids must be taken also with a grain of salt—two grains! According to the evidence it was discovered that he purchased only a one-way ticket for his wife, and a return ticket for himself. This determined the fact that the crime was premeditated.

However, Niagara is a mecca for tourists from all parts of the world. A casual early morning walk and a friendly remark, and you find you are talking to a visitor and his wife from Sydney, Australia, who are visiting Niagara as part of a world tour. Later in the day you engage in conversation with a couple in the General Brock hotel, overlooking the Falls, and you find they are from Johannesburg, South Africa.

On the train you find a party of more than a hundred people on a 4,000-mile tour from the far Western States, and it is pleasing to be assured by one of them that the fine park of the Niagara Parks Commission is the finest sight he has seen on the tour. Hardly do American cousins accede to compliments of that nature.

To appreciate Niagara you must spend several days there; there is so much of interest to see, besides which the grandeur and fascination and the ever present roar of the falls grows on one. By night powerful electric lamps and reflectors shed brilliant and ever changing hues of color over the vast cataract, creating the impression of a vast fairyland. Lovers, with clasped hands, gaze over the enchanting scene; while older people stand and gaze with thoughts proudly running into the dim past, when life's young dreams were yet to be realized. But old Niagara keeps roaring its mighty volume of sound.

It has done so for centuries; it will continue for countless aeons.

Burns and Muriel, Mr. and Mrs. Penn and family, accompanied by Lorraine Rippon. The picnic was held on the property of Mr. G. Elkington, general manager of the company.

Roads Greatly Improved by Seal Coating

Work Done by Contractor D'Appolonia; Twenty Men Employed; Finished This Week.

Work of laying the seal coat on the town's three and one-third miles of hard-surfaced streets started on Monday by Contractor D'Appolonia. Twenty men were engaged in the work as well as two trucks for conveying the crushed rock and a truck for conveying the asphalt. The work is expected to be completed this week-end. The town have two men employed rolling the gravel into the asphalt.

The streets that are now finished give a neat and clean appearance and are a credit to the town council's progressiveness and are fully appreciated by the citizens.

Nest year it is the council's intention to lay more hard-surfaced on the streets not already done, so that in a few years every street in town will be hard-surfaced.

COWS CAUSING DAMAGE IN EAST COLEMAN

Trouble seems to be reaching a head in East Coleman over the public nuisance created by cows roaming at large. One resident, John Nikituk, the town's public works foreman, has lost patience over the damage done to his property by roving cattle, and threatens to take the matter to court.

Mr. Nikituk has already impounded one cow, and released it to the owner on the promise that the latter would make good the property damage. This he has at the present time failed to do. Advice from Magistrate Gresham states that no person is permitted to allow a cow to roam at large if it is creating a public nuisance.

Fernie Will Hold Labor Day Sports

Fernie will sponsor their annual Labor Day sports, various committees already being busy lining up the various sporting events and making preparations to welcome the several hundred spectators expected to attend.

The Journal received word from Fred Bennett, chairman of the football committee, that $100 will be given as first prize and $75 for second. Entry fee being $5.00. Coleman club is expected to enter and the players are urged to get out several nights a week and practice for the competition.

Angelo Gentile will take his "Gas House" gang to the sports, this being the sixteenth successive year that he has entered a ball team. He will enter the team that gave Hillspring such a shellacking on Saturday in the provincial intermediate baseball play-offs.

Honoring The Dead

In the minds of some people cemeteries may be regarded as a somewhat gruesome topic to write about or talk about, but it should not be and there is no reason why burial grounds should be allowed to present an appearance that naturally lends an atmosphere of gruesomeness to any thought or discussion of them.

Unfortunately, as one travels up and down the length and breadth of the country, far too often there breaks upon the view of the passerby the vision of a cemetery in a condition that would not be tolerated were it the site of the abode of the living.

One sees, perhaps on a bleak, wind-raked hillside an unkempt piece of ground riddled with weeds and dotted with leaning, cracked, stained and weathered headstones of wood, stone or marble inscribed with loving testimonials whose words are belied by the surrounding pitiable scene of neglect and disorder.

Or maybe, the home of the dead is located in a low lying spot of wasteland. Perhaps "God's acre" is surrounded by a fence of rotting posts which act as a poor support to a few strands of trailing and broken wires. Here and there is to be seen a miserable and unwelcome apology of a tree, wilted mixture of straggling weeds and struggling flowering plants, or cut flowers which have long since given up the ghost.

Some Beauty Spots

On the contrary, there are to be found in many of the towns and villages and along the country roads, burial grounds which are a delight to the beholder and which diffuse that atmosphere of beauty, peace and rest which properly belongs to the purpose for which such areas have been set aside and dedicated.

Where the grounds for the interment of the departed are well laid out and well maintained, it will usually be found that either they are privately owned or, if a municipal enterprise, they have been placed under the charge of a committee of citizens who have sufficient respect for these duties and pride in their responsibilities to make of them a sacred trust and undertaking.

And where the best results have been achieved it will usually be found that custodianship has been vested in a committee, not of the local council, but of citizens representative of a number of community organizations—men and women who are conscientious, who can somehow spare time to devote to the work and who can and do take a genuine and even a zealous interest in the undertaking.

Some of the most beautiful cemeteries in the country are entirely the result of voluntary community effort directed by committees of the type mentioned. The work is not done in a haphazard or spasmodic manner. Rather it is a labor of love. Members of the committee in charge make frequent visits to the hallowed burial ground and when there is work to be done, whether it be new plantings, repairs or simple maintenance, a working bee is organized and the work is done without fuss or feathers.

Expenditure Unnecessary

Climatic and financial conditions, of course, make it impossible to reproduce in rural Western Canada cemeteries such as the famous one in Los Angeles where large sums of money have been spent on buildings, sculptures, lighting effects and music in a setting of unparalleled beauty, but the underlying spirit which inspired the sponsors of this beautiful cemetery can be emulated and used to reproduce a similar atmosphere and effect on a moderate scale.

When it is remembered that a hallowed and beautiful last resting place for the loved ones who have gone before can be provided without much expenditure for materials, there seems to be little reason why every cemetery in the west should not be creditable to the community in which it is situated, since there is always plenty of volunteer labor available at periodic intervals even in the smallest community.

It is largely a matter of the proper attitude of respect towards the dead and for the feelings of the relatives, a proud communal spirit and the will to do. Given these things much can be done with little or no cash outlay.

For Good Friendship

English Servants Find Cycle Club A Successful Venture

An advertisement in a bicycle magazine has brought an end to loneliness for a number of domestic servants in London.

In 1936 a butler, fond of cycling, advertised in a magazine for domestic servants to form a club. Miss Martha Leigh answered the call and eventually a club of six members was formed but it didn't last long.

Last August Miss Leigh decided to try again. Before starting on a cycle tour she advertised and received 25 replies from maids, butlers, footmen and chauffeurs. A new bicycle club was founded. To-day there are 100 members divided into several groups.

The club's chief object is to promote good friendship among domestic servants. In many instances young men and girls go to strange cities and towns to work. "If they are members of the club," said Miss Leigh, "they are assured of meeting their fellow-members of either sex. In this way loneliness is banished and friendships spring up. This makes for happiness and the members are much more contented in their work."

The London group has no headquarters. They always meet under the arch at Hyde Park Corner. Only domestic servants—living hotel employees—are eligible to join. The fee is one shilling to join and half a crown a year.

Just A Novelty

Stage Coach Carries Passengers From London To Hampton Court.

There are those who like the old ways, even if only for novelty's sake. That's probably why Sidney Truett, who in 1890 drove a stage coach, with four-in-hand, regularly from London to Dorking, is now giving a similar service from fashionable Park Lane, London, to Hampton Court. Daily the coachman's horn blares out over Hyde Park announcing that the coach with its load of passengers is on its way. The four horses are changed at Richmond, as in olden times. The fare for the two-and-a-half hour run is 12 shillings and sixpence a head.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

The Weekly Newspaper

Confidence Is Expressed In The Future Of The Country Press

Confidence in the future of the weekly newspaper in Canada was expressed by M. Lyle Spencer, director of the School of Journalism, Syracuse, N.Y., in an address before nearly 300 delegates to the 20th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association at Niagara Falls.

"If there is any need of publishing in which I have confidence to-day, it is the weekly newspaper," said Mr. Spencer, pointing out that a decrease in recent years in the number of daily newspapers in Canada and the United States had been accompanied by a noticeable increase in weekly publications.

Mr. Spencer stressed the need for a social consciousness among publishers in their work, which was a "sort of public utility." He deplored the practice among some publishers of filling vacant space in their papers with "hurry-up" advertising about the publisher's own business.

Frank B. Hutchinson of Syracuse, N.Y., said much of the mutual respect existing between Canada and the United States was attributable to the "hundreds of newspapers, large and small, which were close to the people."

"These newspapers are free and intelligent," said Mr. Hutchinson. "They are free to print what they please and intelligent enough to print the truth. Our two countries will remain friendly and peaceful as long as our press remains free, fair and intelligent."

Mr. Hutchinson said the day was approaching when Canada and the United States will "occupy the world stage for power and culture, when we will be in the centre of protection of world civilization." He said the real test would come when the two countries, "growing in numbers and world importance, come to clash more frequently in commerce, power and world influence."

Scientists Claim Soy Bean Is Great-est Protective Food

Nutrition experts at the Pacific Science Congress in Berkeley, Calif., described the soy bean as one of the greatest potential protectors of the poor against hazards of unbalanced diets and vitamin deficiency. Dr. A. H. He said the soy bean contained 40 per cent. of high grade protein, 20 per cent. oil, two to three per cent. of phosphate substances, a liberal supply of calcium, iron, copper and vitamins B-1, B-2 and K.

Britain And France Strengthen Forces In Near East And Pacific

Paris—Authoritative French sources said Great Britain and France are strengthening their land, sea and air forces in the Near East and the Pacific to meet any threat which might result from a new alliance between Japan and the Rome-Berlin military alliance.

France's military forces in its colonial territory have been increased considerably during recent weeks and Great Britain has sent heavy reinforcements to the Suez canal and Singapore.

The normal native garrisons in the French African colonies—excluding North Africa—total about 45,000 effective but thousands of reinforcements have been added during the current European tensions. At least 100,000 troops are at disposal of military authorities in Indo China in case of emergency.

During the past few days 7,000 troops from the Indian army and the second battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders arrived at Singapore in addition to a squadron of Blenheim bombers which landed at the key Pacific base on Saturday. The aircraft carrier Eagle and 10 other British naval units are due at Singapore this week.

Land, air and sea reinforcements at Singapore were said to have resulted from recent conversations between high French and British military authorities in the Pacific zone preceded by a conference of British empire defence experts at Wellington, New Zealand.

Defences in the Suez canal and the Red sea also have been reinforced at key points. French and British authorities in the Mediterranean zone have been in frequent consultations at Gibraltar, and the French and British Mediterranean fleets recently completed extensive manoeuvres. During the past few days British military officials in the Palestine-Egypt zone held an important conference at Palestine.

A strategic military highway linking Palestine and the Suez canal will be completed in the near future. This will permit speedy transportation of troops in the Near Eastern zone in case of hostilities. An undisclosed number of troops already have been transferred from India to Egypt and two companies of the Second battalion of the King's African Rifles and the general staff of the unit arrived in Tanganyika from Nyassaland.

Banned From Italy

Rome—Time magazine has been banned from Italy under further notice on account of an article in the issue of July 24 about Countess Edda Ciano, daughter of Premier Mussolini and wife of Foreign Minister Count Ciano.

Survey Is Made Of Condition Of The Western Wheat Crop

Winnipeg—Possibility of western Canada harvesting a wheat crop of from 350,000,000 to 390,000,000 bushels—the largest since 1932—is indicated in a crop survey published by the Winnipeg Free Press.

The crop has passed through a critical period during the past three weeks due to abnormal heat but recent showers and cooler weather have checked deterioration. Continued favorable conditions would mean the largest crop in seven years. The forecast, however, is tentative only, explained the report, and is dependent on the late crops in northern Alberta and Saskatchewan escaping the frost hazard and barring further deterioration from recurring heat waves.

In the face of many vicissitudes prospective yields indicate Manitoba and Alberta may harvest crops comparable to last year's good yields, while Saskatchewan's outlook should be above that of a year ago, the report said. The recent heat and drought, however, have cut the wheat crop 34 per cent from estimates made three weeks ago.

Harvesting is fairly general in Manitoba, has just started in southwestern Saskatchewan and extends westward into southern Alberta.

Manitoba—Wheat is reported filling good at 14 per cent of the reporting points; fair at 64 per cent, and poor at 22 per cent. However,

U.S. Immigration

Quotas Filled For Those Fleeing From Racial Persecution

Washington.—An immigration wave is swelling against dams of the United States Immigration Act as panic-stricken hundreds of thousands flee racial persecution in central Europe and the shadow of war.

Some countries' immigration quotas are filled for hopeless numbers of years. From Hungary, for instance, an applicant for a United States immigration visa, although accepted, may have to wait 25 years or more. Countries whose backlog of applicants under immigration quotas are piled especially high are all central European, affected by some form of threat of anti-Semitism. They are Germany, Czechoslovakia (the old Czechoslovakia now absorbed by Germany) but whose quota has not yet been merged with that of Germany, Hungary, Poland and Roumania.

Although the German quota is 27,370 a year, 298,000 applicants for quota visas had registered at American consulates at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Ordinarily this would mean the German quota is already filled for 11 years. But more than half the applicants are rejected on physical, mental or other grounds. Even so, the quota is filled for more than five years to come.

In Poland applicants now number 114,000, compared to a quota of only 6,524. However, percentage of rejected applications from Poland is higher than from Germany.

Most pitiful situation perhaps of all exists in Hungary, where 30,000 have applied under an annual quota of only 869.

Hoppers In Ontario

Invasion Of Province This Year Said To Be Unusual

Toronto.—W. R. Reek, Ontario deputy minister of agriculture, said abundance of grasshoppers in the province this year is unusual. "There is no doubt about the grasshoppers being prevalent," Mr. Reek said. "But I do not think it could be called a heavy plague." Albert Chapman, Kitchener district farmer, said he never had seen so many grasshoppers on his property in 30 years of farming as this year.

Build More Bombers

Ottawa.—Six additional Stranraer bombers will be built for the Royal Canadian Air Force by Canadian Vickers Ltd., Montreal, departmental officers announced. This brings to 18 the number under order, or in process of delivery from that firm. An initial order of 12 is being worked on at present.

Anti-Foreign Action

A Number Of Canadian Missionaries Are Preparing To Leave Churches At Shanghai—Missionaries at Kweichow, east of Kaifeng, were reported anticipating anti-foreign action by the Japanese and were said to be preparing to leave.

Among the missions at Kweichow is that of the Church of England in Canada. There are also missions of the American board and the Southern Baptist convention.

Five Canadians are stationed at the Anglican mission hospital at Kweichow, 100 miles from Kaifeng. They are Dr. and Mrs. H. Gilbert of London, Ont., Miss S. S. Kealey of Lachine, Que., and Miss A. Burgess and Miss K. Robbins, addresses unknown.

Meanwhile American authorities were seeking to penetrate the mystery surrounding reported detention of Americans at Kaifeng.

A list of foreign missionaries, compiled from various sources, indicated at least 36 Americans, some of them women and children, were in the former capital of Honan province in North China's interior.

Cryptic reports reaching the outside gave no explanation for the detention. (The report followed earlier information that the Americans were preparing to flee quickly after an outbreak of anti-Americanism at Kaifeng.)

Peiping, China.—A Japanese army spokesman said Canadian missionaries, by asserting they came from America, had created the impression Americans—citizens of the United States—were in difficulties in Kaifeng.

He said this information was furnished by Rev. Francis Clougherty, Swiss Vale, Pa., who telegraphed that misunderstandings were responsible for reports Americans at Kaifeng were in difficulties.

Warning From Halifax

Says Hitler's Bloodless Conquests Are A Thing Of The Past

London.—Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary, has warned the German ambassador to Great Britain, Herbert von Dirksen, that Hitler's "bloodless conquests" are a thing of the past. There would be no more, he reportedly informed the German official, because of the firm coalition of Europe's anti-aggression powers, now facing the Reich.

The warning was reported to have been given at a conference between Lord Halifax and the German ambassador. It will be taken home to Hitler by the German diplomat, who leaves for Berlin.

In London the British government appeared to be taking an increasingly serious view of the German-Polish quarrel. It seemed apprehensive that Hitler may soon attempt to force a final solution of the problem.

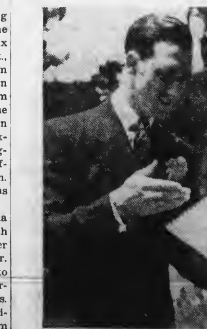

Some satisfaction was evident, however, in British diplomatic circles over the speech by Albert Forster, Nazi leader in Danzig. They pointed out that the speech was on the whole defensive in tone. Instead of threatening Poland, they noted, Forster had concentrated his warning to the effect that Danzig is ready to resist any "Polish attack".

Perfect Ferns And Leaves Found On Boy Who Was Killed

Montreal.—Perfect imprints of ferns and leaves were left on the chest, arms and legs of Ben Oliver, 17-year-old telegraph boy killed when lightning struck near him in a storm, Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medico-legal expert, said. "In all my years of experience I have never seen such marks," said Dr. Fontaine. "I have heard of them but never actually seen them."

Pace Too Fast

Scottish Women Tourists Not Geared To Our Way Of Living

Toronto.—The 58 Scottish farm women visiting eastern Canada under the auspices of the Scottish Rural Women's Association, think "tours are terrible" and they want to know "whether Canadian women ever slow down."

"We're not geared to your way of living," one of them said here. "Canadian women seem to think nothing of doing a couple of hundred miles at a time. Why, we think a motor trip of 50 miles is something out of the question."

Most of the Scottish women, who came to Canada to learn about Canadian farming and Canadian home life in the country, said they didn't get much time to use little notebooks brought along with them.

"We'll need a whole month in bed after this trip," another of the visitors said. "Canadians are noted for their hospitality, but I'm afraid it's a case of killing with kindness."

"I don't know how the King and Queen ever stood it," said one of the party, which has been entertained at many Ontario points in the past two weeks by women's and farm organizations.

Not An Official Visit

Lord And Lady Tweedsmuir Met Son At Churchill

Churchill, Man.—Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir, their sons, John and Alastair Buchan, and other members of the governor-general's party left for Prince Albert, Sask., after a three-day visit during which they inspected historic sites and modern grain-handling facilities of this Hudson Bay port.

Their Excellencies arrived to welcome Hon. John Buchan on his arrival aboard the supply ship Nascopie following a year in the Arctic in the Hudson's Bay Company's employ. It was more of a family reunion than an official vice-regal visit here.

Weather was nearly perfect during the vice-regal visit and members of the party were active with cameras. Eskimos and Eskimo dogs and the large number of white whales in the Churchill river were the most popular camera subjects.

May Start New Search

Sydney, Australia.—A new search for traces of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, lost off the coast of Burma in 1935, may be made by the new English-made Royal Australian Air Force "flycutter" on their way to Australia for delivery. The Australian minister for civil aviation said he was making this suggestion to the defence minister.

May Invite German Officer To Inspect Royal Air Force

London.—Great Britain may invite a senior German military officer to inspect the Royal Air Force and take back a message to Hitler that this country is ready and able to fight, diplomatic circles said.

These sources said reports from Berlin indicated that Hitler, busy consolidating his western defences, solidifying his eastern fortifications and laying up a food supply, has not yet reached the "concentration" stage which in previous instances has preceded definite action.

Hitler, it was added, is still not convinced that the studies in British plane production have made London's intervention in any Danzig showdown a dangerous possibility.

Diplomatic quarters here suggested the man most likely to sway the further would be Colonel-General Erhard Milch, Nazi air force chief of staff.

That Britain means business was reaffirmed, according to authoritative sources, by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, who gave the Polish ambassador, Count Haczynski, fresh assurances of aid in the event of aggression.

At Belgrade, Yugoslavia, authoritative sources said 500,000 Yugoslav troops would begin manoeuvres Aug. 20 in Slovenian territory bounded by Italy, Germany and Hungary.

This information was disclosed two days after government circles reported that Germany and Italy had demanded Yugoslavia's "benevolent neutrality" in case of war, demands which were rejected.

Bomb Explodes In Launch

British Police Sergeant Killed And Two Others Injured

Haifa, Palestine.—A British police sergeant was killed and two constables were injured when a time bomb exploded aboard a new patrol launch cruising off Haifa. Three others escaped as the boat sunk.

The launch had been keeping watch on a Greek ship hovering outside territorial waters in an attempt to land Jewish refugees from Europe.

Three Jews were killed and two wounded when a land mine exploded under a truck near Ekron.

Nascopie Leaves Churchill

Churchill, Man.—R.M.S. Nascopie sailed Aug. 8 on the second leg of her annual trip to the far northern Hudson's Bay Company posts and Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachments along the shores of the Arctic ocean as far north as Fort Ross, most northerly point on the continent, approximately 1,000 miles due north of here.

Population Of India

Simla, India.—The population of India is expected to exceed 400,000,000 by March, 1941, when the seventh all-India census is to be held. An increase of 4,000,000 in the last 10 years may be revealed.

Danzig Nazi Leader At Mass Meeting Hurls Defiance At Poland

Danzig.—The Nazi leader in Danzig, Albert Forster, at a vast outdoor protest meeting, hurled defiance at Poland, and appealed to citizens of the party were active with cameras. Many, to prevent a war—but gave no hint of the plans of Chancellor Hitler.

The fiery spokesman, who hastened back to Danzig, with full knowledge of Hitler's views gained in long interviews, declared, however, that "Poland may rest assured" Germany and the fuhrer "are determined in the event of attack to stand at our side."

As for Danzig, he asserted, the free city was prepared to defend its rights "with its blood".

Langer spoke at a huge gathering in Langer market place, amid the spotlights, loudspeakers and color of a typical Nazi rally, with the old Nazi refrain, "One People, One Reich, One Fuhrer!" ringing in his ears.

But if Forster gave no hint of Hitler's plans he left no doubt of his ultimate intentions.

"The Danzig population," he declared, "believes implicitly that the hour of liberation is coming and that

The informants said at least four classes of army reservists had received notice to report for duty Aug. 20. Yugoslavia's standing army at present exceeds 180,000 men.

Slovenia is Yugoslavia's northern province, lying between Germany, Austria and Italy's Adriatic ports, Trieste and Fiume.

Border observers reported that the Spanish Nationalist government is constructing fortifications near the French frontier, between Iran and San Sebastian. Residents of the Hendaye region who frequently cross the frontier said thousands of former republican soldiers, now enrolled in nationalist labor brigades, were being directed in the work by German technicians. There are a series of blockhouses of reinforced concrete with emplacements for machine-guns and anti-tank guns.

Italy announced the calling of two army reservist classes to the colors, the demobilization of two other classes now under arms and a marked increase in the officer strength with the forces. The measures will leave the number of troops in active service practically unchanged at slightly more than 1,000,000 men.

Slovenia's main highway to Poland, through Kolubarka pass, has been closed by German order and was reported to be nearly ready to bear heavy military traffic. Rushed by German military technicians, the project for widening and paving the strategic strategic road from here to the Polish frontier was expected to be completed by Sept. 1 or earlier.

Tension At Tientsin

Belgian, Mistaken For Briton, Is Beaten By Japanese Soldiers

Tientsin, China.—H. McCure, the first British consul general here, has tried to search since the opening of Anglo-Japanese negotiations at Tokyo, established a precedent here by firmly refusing to submit.

McCure, an architect, told the Japanese he would permit nothing more than an examination of the contents of his pockets. After a brief altercation he was permitted to pass the barrier into the blockaded British concession.

At Peking, according to word received here, Japanese soldiers beat and kicked D. Conings, a Belgian, as he alighted from a train. He was mistaken for a Briton, the dispatch said.

The anti-British committee at Peking ordered Chinese shopkeepers to double the prices on goods sold to Britons. Restrictions at the barriers to the British and French concessions grew more severe, side by side with the growth in intensity of the anti-British campaign.

"Our patience is not without limits," said a Japanese garrison communique, discussing the delay in the Tokyo negotiations which were to settle the Anglo-Japanese dispute here.

the free city will return to the Reich. "The Danzigers look with special veneration upon their fuhrer, Adolf Hitler. They are convinced he will fulfill their wish and thereby again give the right of self-determination that place which has been denied it since 1919.

"My beloved Danzigers, in this hour we cannot do anything better than to pledge solemnly to stick together, come what may, that we shall ward off every attack upon this sacred soil determinedly, with the weapons at our hands and that we shall execute every command of our fuhrer unquestioningly.

"May day does not lie far distant when we convene here not for a protest meeting, but to celebrate the reunion of Danzig with the Reich."

Forster's main theme was an indirect appeal to citizens of Great Britain, France and United States to recognize that "Danzig is German."

The argument to which he returned again and again was that there was no sense in sending English and French youths into battle to save Danzig for Poland when, according to the German contention, the city belongs historically and by choice to Germany.

WIND and soapuds are the main constituents of some people's stock in trade. Good words speak for themselves, they need no bragging of and self-praise, to command the attention of the people.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE EDITOR having returned from a very enjoyable convention gathering of weekly newspaper publishers at Niagara Falls, Ontario, and a visit to the World's Fair at New York, resumes his comment in this "kolum." In the first place, it is a tribute to the weekly newspapers of Alberta that the writer was elected as president of Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, which represents over 700 weekly newspapers of the Dominion. We take it as a tribute to Alberta newspapers and appreciate highly the messages of congratulation received, not only from brother publishers of this province, but from other publishers throughout Canada. It is an honor which we regard highly, and our aim will be to measure up fully to the high standard set by those who have previously occupied the office as president.

NIAGARA is a fine convention city, and is very popular as a holiday resort, where people from all parts of the world are met as one strolls around the fine park of the Niagara Parks Commission. Ontario, particularly, has a fine tourist asset in the Falls, which attract hundreds of thousands during the season, they arriving by automobiles, trains and busses. Following the convention, a trip was made to the World's Fair, via the New York Central line, which for a considerable length runs alongside the Hudson river, making a fine trip in comfortable air-conditioned coaches. New York, second largest city of the world, fascinates one, with its skyscraper buildings, the Empire State building giving one quite a thrill as you gaze to its topmost story 1,250 feet above the sidewalk, with its 103 stories. Sometimes the low-hanging clouds obscure the higher part of the building. More of the visit will be recorded in special articles in subsequent issues. The World's Fair is great; it is amazing, and educational and inspirational in giving a vista of what the world of to-morrow may be. More of it later.

IN OUR absence political developments have taken a step forward. It is interesting to pick up the thread of the local news after being away for only a brief period, therefore, the news that Labor has nominated a candidate for the provincial legislature, and casts aside the pleas of Social Credit advocates to join forces with them is particularly interesting. It remains to be seen if the farmers of the eastern part of the constituency will join with Labor in the next provincial campaign. The probabilities are that the Independent Electors' Association will also nominate a candidate, as well as Social Crediters, making a three-cornered fight. What the outcome will be depends largely on organization work of the candidates' supporters, but it is evident that Social Credit is badly discredited in this constituency.

WHILE prairie dwellers and those in eastern cities suffer from the heat, to which humidity adds discomfort, people living in the highlands, such as the Crows' Nest Pass towns are fortunate in at least being able to sleep in comfort. The comfort is noticed particularly by those who live in the mountain districts, and a holiday spent in the east is detracted from to some extent by the persistent heat. One welcomes a return to the mountains with the invigorating air and virile atmosphere which is a striking contrast to that of the east. Experience of eastern discomfort in heat and humidity gives one a higher appreciation of our local climate, even if we do get more than a fair share of the winds that blow.

AS THIS family journal continues to develop in importance with the steady development of the town, in which all lines of business participate or benefit, according to their degree of enterprise and aggressiveness, we cannot lose sight of the fact that it is the coal industry which is the sole source of wealth in the Crows' Nest Pass towns. Retailers are apt at times to forget this, judging by the fact that trucks are used for transporting their goods from other points, instead of the railroad. Were it not for the coal purchased from these mines by the railroad company, it is safe to state that many now in business would be seeking pastures new. Mine employees can point out to retailers that they are digging coal, and though the wheels of progress cannot be retarded, yet from a business point and for self-preservation, there should be no hesitation whatever as to the form of transportation to be used, and that is by rail. Coal provides our living—not gasoline!

The first young birds race was flown from Calgary on August 6th. The youngsters showed real class in their initial introduction to the racing game by doing the 101 miles flight in 2 hours-39 minutes. Fast trapping brought the prizes to their owners as follows:

1st. M. Nemith. 2nd. W. Roughead. 3rd. A. Biggan.

Prizes were donated by: Burnick's Meat Market, Gate and Sherratt Grocery and Janostak's Grocery.

The second race was flown from Didsbury Aug. 12th. The birds made a slow time in this race having to battle a strong west wind all the way and considerable smoke. A real endurance test. They however arrived in good shape and again fast trapping decided the winners which were as follows:

1st. A. Zur. 2nd. W. Roughhead.
3rd. A. Biggan.

Prizes were donated by: Chalmer's Jewelry, Holyk's Grocery and Palm Confectionery.

The next race will be from Red
Deer on Aug. 19th, or 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brown and
weeks vacation at the coast.

THE RIVER OF SKULLS

A loud yawn from the upper bunk announced the awakening of the giant and soon the room was filled with odors of hot bannocks, frying caribou steak and tea.

During the following days, while the boys and dog were regaining their lost weight and strength and the crust stiffened under the March sun, Alan talked much with McCord. But his direct questions received evasive answers. The mystery of the giant's presence on the Talking River was still unsolved in the minds of the boys. The explanation that he was there to trade with the Indians did not satisfy them.

Nevertheless in the intimacy of the life together, Alan and Noel gradually surrendered to the magnetism of the man who had saved them from a wilderness death. They were convinced that behind that bulk and power lay the mettle of a man.

Soon Heather McCord was driving Rough over the crusted river ice hitched to her father's small trapping toboggan. Never before had the Unvaga shown interest in anyone except the man he worshipped. But by some secret magic, some occult charm of personality, the girl had reached the heart of the dog.

One day as Alan followed rabbit snares set in the thick willows of the shore reaches above the camp, he heard Heather and Rough skimming over the wind-brushed river ice, the laughter of the girl mingling with the wild yelping of the dog. Finishing his round of the snares, he came out to the shore a mile above the camp and looked up and down stream. The river was deserted. Thinking that they had gone on upstream, he walked to a bend in the shore. But on the sweep of white river ice before him there was no sled. Then his heart suddenly slowed as he noticed, a quarter of a mile above, near the shore, black objects, low on the ice.

"Wopppp!" the rabbits he carried, Alan ran like a caribou hunted by timber wolves.

"If they can only hold on—only hold on!" he prayed, leaping over the wind-scoured crust of the river.

As he approached the sled, struggling in the sack of the strong current, Alan saw that the girl was holding herself firmly by her arms on strong ice but that the husky was breaking down the ice-edge, churning and clawing with his powerful forelegs to hold himself up against the drag of the sled beneath him.

"Hold on! Hold on, Rough!" he cried, desperate with fear.

Clinging to the ice edge, the white-faced girl gasped: "Get Rough! The sled's pulling him—under! I'm—all right!"

The spread paws of the frantic dog were slowly slipping on the clawed ice—slipping toward the edge.

"Hold on, Rough!" she cried.

With a last desperate lunge of his powerful fore legs the despairing dog lifted his head and shoulders above the water. The deep throat sent a farewell whine to the master who was coming too late. Slowly, like an anchor, the drag of the sled drew the slipping nails to the edge of the ice and the heroic dog sank beneath the surface.

There was a heavy splash as Alan Cameron threw himself into the water. Hooking one arm on the ice edge, he reached under water and gripped a trace of the dog who thrashed wildly against the drag of the sled to gain the surface. With a wrench of his powerful arm and shoulder Alan drew the struggling Rough up to the ice edge. Aided by Alan's lift on the trace, the dog hooked his forelegs again on the ice. Alan whipped his skinning knife from its sheath and slashed both traces. The great husky drew himself out of the water, turned and clamping his teeth on the capote of his master, slowly drew him out on the ice.

"Oh, you've saved him—you've saved him!"

With a spring the dog reached the rim of the firm ice where Heather clung with all the strength of her young arms, and seized a sleeve of her duffel capote while the dripping Alan gripped her hand and man and dog drew the half-frozen girl from the water.

"Are you all right?" he cried, as Heather, half delirious, hugged the wildly yelping Rough. "Quick now! We'll wring some of the water out of your clothes! They'll freeze solid. We've got to strike for camp."

Shivering like a man with the ague, Alan wrung what water he could from her clothes.

"We've lost—the sled," she said ruefully.

"We can make another in a day or two! Come on now! No time to talk! Run!" commanded Alan, seizing Heather's arm, while she, half-crying, half-laughing, attempted to explain how she had forgotten her father's warning and had driven Rough into the treacherous ice of the rapids.

Three ice-incrusted figures reached the warm camp to find John McCord, when he returned, in the middle on the folly of headstrong girls with short memories. Later Alan and Heather, swathed in blankets, drying out before the fire, heard him say:

"What would there be left for me with Heather, you and Rough out there under that ice?"

CHAPTER III

March, the southern Montagnais! "Moon of the Crust on the Snow," was drawing to an end. Three weeks of nourishing food brought intricacies in the two famished boys and the lean, stiff-legged husky who had drifted in out of the jaws of the white death to the cabin of John McCord.

But now there was no time to waste, if the boys were to escape being caught on their way to Fort George by the spring break-up, when the crust goes suddenly soft before the advancing sun and water floods the river ice.

The afternoon before Alan planned to start for the coast, he and McCord, their snowshoes slung from their backs, were returning from a round of the trap-lines in the timber of the river valley. Suddenly, swinging round on the hooded figure of Alan, who walked beside his dog, McCord exploded, almost fiercely:

"I want you to bring back some real dogs—then winter with me!"

"Winter with you?" The pulse of the youth leaped.

"I've watched you alone and with your dog. I've seen you handle an axe and a rifle. I've listened to your talk. I haven't lived forty years for nothing. You're young, but you're the man I looked for and couldn't find—down in Ontario and at Moose and Rupert House."

"You saved our lives," was Alan's answer. "They'll never know at Fort George that we met you."

"I believe you, boy," McCord laid his hand on the other's shoulder. "But will you go up the coast for the dogs?"

Alan hesitated. There was Berthe! What would she say? He was saying, Berthe!—But the money that McCord would pay him might bring that day nearer.

A FLASHING SMILE

... teeth kept bright and attractive with the help of WRIGLEY'S GUM.

GET SOME TODAY!

I'm no judge of a face," he said. "I'm going to trust you, but how about Noel? He's Indian. Can you keep his mouth shut—if they try to learn something?"

"Noel would die for me," answered Alan, wondering what was coming.

"He will not talk."

"You'll get the dogs, then?"

"Why not come to the coast and get them, yourself?"

"I don't want it known at Fort George where I am going to locate to trade with the Indians. That's why I came in by way of Rupert House."

"To throw them off the scent—to lose myself. Remember you've never seen me. Can Noel keep that locked in his throat?"

Suddenly across Alan's brain there flashed a suspicion. Could this man, facing him here on the river ice, be wanted down in the provinces for crime?

"You saved our lives," was Alan's answer. "They'll never know at Fort George that we met you."

"I believe you, boy," McCord laid his hand on the other's shoulder. "But will you go up the coast for the dogs?"

Alan hesitated. There was Berthe! What would she say? He was saying, Berthe!—But the money that McCord would pay him might bring that day nearer.

Importance Of Canada

Destined To Play A More Important Part In Empire Affairs

Once again the increasing importance of Canada in the scheme of the British Empire is brought out. Great Britain is about to establish large wheat reserves in that country.

Having filed all available storage space on the "tight little island", Halifax and St. John will be utilized to pile up even greater reserves.

This not only helps to alleviate Canadian surplus, when situation, which is like that of the United States, but it further secures Britain against wartime emergency.

The ports chosen are those closest to Britain itself, making the grain quickly available at any time so long as command of the sea is not lost.

It has been speculated for some time that Canada was destined to play a more important role in Empire affairs than heretofore. Certain aeroplane production and other munitions work has already been brought to Canada, and more will follow.

Trees In Alberta

Flourish In The Driest Parts Of The Province, If Given Attention

Trees do flourish in the driest parts of Alberta. Farm after farm in the southeast corner is surrounded by flourishing trees. Like every other form of plant life, proper cultivation is required. You can't neglect trees any more than you can vegetables or flowers. When they are given required attention they flourish—even in the driest years they beautifully hundreds of our farm homes.

There is no good excuse for not having trees around every farm in Southern Alberta—and not only trees but flowers and shrubs. Nothing makes a farm home more like a real home than to surround it with the green of trees and shrubs and the various colors of flowers—Lethbridge Herald.

Called Up For Service

Holder Of Victoria Cross Glad To Join Army Again

Michael O'Leary, V.C., the man who captured two enemy positions single-handed in 1915, joined the army again, and changed the top hat, blue and gold uniform of a London West End hotel carriage attendant for the khaki uniform of an army officer, which he thought, he had taken off for good 20 years ago.

Within six months of the end of his 20 years as a reserve officer he has been called up for three years' service as an artillery officer, becoming Lieutenant Michael O'Leary, under canvas somewhere in Yorkshire, taking a three months' artillery training course. After the course he will be given back the rank of captain with which he left the army after the war.

Michael O'Leary beamed cheerfully when he talked about going back to the army. He said: "The country wants me to go, and it's my duty, but I'll be mighty glad to do it. In the first three months when I shall be back under canvas I'll grow 10 years younger. I've never stopped being a soldier at heart."

He was promoted from lance-corporal to sergeant of the Connaught Rangers at Culinchy, Northern France, after he had killed eight Germans, captured two machine-gun positions, and taken two prisoners, using his rifle and 10 rounds of ammunition.

A few hours after returning from the front, mud-stained and weary, he was called to Buckingham Palace to be decorated by King George V., and to be promoted to lieutenant.

He has served in the navy, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Irish Guards, Connaught Rangers and the Canadian police. Now the British army wants some more of Michael O'Leary.

Experiment Brings Results

Virginia Scientists Found Out Why Sloths Are So Slow

Physiologists S. W. Britton and R. F. Kline used to sit in their laboratory at the University of Virginia and wonder why the sloth is so slothful.

As good Darwinians they realized that the basic reason for the slothfulness of the sloth is that he is beautifully adapted to his environment. He hides from his enemies instead of fleeing; being a vegetarian, he does not have to chase his food.

But other animals have been known to alter their innate behavior because of outside influences. Why not the sloth?

Physiologists Britton and Kline went down to Panama, collected a few sloths (which are fairly tame and amenable) and got to work. First, they clocked the animals' progress along the underside of a horizontal pole. Speed of a two-toed sloth: a third of a mile an hour. Speed of a three-toed sloth: two-thirds of a mile an hour.

Sloths are not only undermuscled for their weight but also have an uncommonly low temperature. So Scientists Britton and Kline left their sloths out in the tropical sunshine long enough to raise their temperatures by five or six degrees, and the change was miraculous; they moved 50 per cent. faster. Similar speed-ups were also obtained by injections of adrenalin and prostigmin (an insecticide stimulant), and by scolding them. Subjected to such speed-up techniques as this, the Virginia physiologists were pleased to report in Science last week that one thoroughly stimulated sloth hustled along the pole at the relatively dizzy pace of one mile an hour—fifteen times as fast.

Preparations Going Forward

Australia Making Home Ready For New Governor-General

When the Duke and Duchess of Kent sail for Australia in October for the Duke's two years of office as Governor-General, one deck of the P. and O. liner Strathaird will be reserved for their use. The first part of the journey will be by air. They will join the ship at Marseilles. It will probably be December before they settle into their Canberra home.

says a London writer. The house is being redecorated and refitted to their wishes. The Duke has stipulated that Australian artists, labor and material shall be employed. Some of their favorite furniture selected from their English homes, will be sent on soon. Several rooms will be added to the house, so that little Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra may be away from the official portion of the house.

The favorite authors of the blind, says a librarian, remain Mark Twain, Dickens, Stevenson and Shakespeare. A good text for "the classics".

A ventilated beach hat that can be spread out and used for a fan has been patented by a Chicago woman.

Enterprising Ohio Village Has Planned A Community Forest

Burton, enterprising Geauga County village, has launched a project worth emulation, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Burton has planted a community forest of 1,500 trees and proceeds from the sale of lumber are expected some day to cut heavily into the mounting tax burden.

Several months ago business men of the village heard a description of the community forests of Europe. They were told that these were carefully lumbered and replanted and had for hundreds of years yielded a substantial revenue to their owners. They decided to try it.

Farms on which taxes were long delinquent and others that had been abandoned were decided to the town. Lawrence W. Smith, high school teacher, and his vocational agricultural class, planted many of the trees. Volunteers planted others. They include spruce, poplar, red and white pine, locust and maple, varieties which thrive best in Ohio.

In addition to the eventual revenue the forest is expected to afford a means of recreation, protect the town's water supply, furnish bird and wild life sanctuaries and utilize waste land. In the opinion of Charles A. Haas, Geauga county agricultural agent, Burton should profit as much from this forest as do towns in Switzerland which own 66 per cent. of the forests, and towns in Germany which own the greater part of the famous Black Forest.

What is encouraging about the Burton project is that the community showed the initiative to undertake it. It did not wait for direction or aid from the state or federal governments. Every citizen will have an interest in its success and the other Ohio towns may find it an idea worth copying.

Mineral Production

Canada's mineral production in 1938 included 21 metals, four fuels, 23 industrial and other non-metallic minerals, as well as many clay products, and the structural materials such as cement, lime, stone, and gravel.

All vegetables, except some kinds of new potatoes, should be started in boiling water and cooked as rapidly as possible, says a writer in Hygeia, health magazine.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GOOD PRINTING

The use of printed matter is one of the most powerful factors in advertising, and can be used to great advantage. People respond far more readily to sales appeals which are well printed and quickly and easily read than if they have to pore over vague and indistinct attempts at substituting for the real thing. Many substitutes are used, but the Art of Printing remains ahead of all other mediums for informing the public whose trade is courted by enterprising

Pucksters Trounce Fernie to Increase League Lead

Darkness on Wednesday evening acted as an angel of mercy to a harassed Fernie ball club as they struggled vainly against the powerful Coleman Pucksters. The game was called at the end of seven innings with Pucksters leading 12-1.

Fernie looked good for three innings, holding themselves on even terms with the locals at one run each. In the fourth Harrington walked the first three men to face him and was taken from the box. Guzzi took the mound and pitched good ball to allow only two runs to be scored before retiring the side. In the fifth, Fernie fell apart. Guzzi managed to get two men out but found it practically impossible to retire the third man and eight runs were scored. Kemp forced with a home run. Darkness forced the officials to call a halt at the end of the seventh.

Score by innings:
Fernie — 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 9 7
Pucksters—0 0 1 2 8 1 0 12 9 1
Harrington, Guzzi and Maff; ole; Schnepf and Gate.

Pucksters Enter Second Round Provincial Play-offs

Hillspring's ball club are still rubbing their eyes and wondering what happened on Saturday when Coleman Pucksters opposed them in the second of the best two-out-of-three game series for the right to advance into the second round of the provincial intermediate baseball play-offs. Coleman had won the first game Friday evening at 6-3 Coleman.

When the smoke of battle had cleared Pucksters were out of sight of their opponents, the score board crediting them with 33 runs, a record high, while Hillspring had scored 9. Seaman was on the mound for eight innings, Schnepf finishing the game. Johnny Aleck was behind the plate for the locals. In the game here Friday evening Marconi handcuffed his opponents for seven innings, weakening in the last two to allow three runs to cross the plate for the visitors. His team mates had piled up a 6-0 lead in the meantime and Marconi was never in danger of relinquishing that lead.

George Catches a Fish

Coleman Fishermen looked with new interest on the person of George Burchell, fisherman deluxe. George, let it be known, has been an enthusiast of the rod and reel for a number of years and has developed a glibness of tongue that would do credit to the most ardent fisherman, his fellow companions having been known to walk away talking to themselves after George had told them of the big ones he hooked but which always managed to get away. On Sunday however he returned from the North Fork with a rainbow trout that weighed 23 pounds cleaned. Needless to say any other fishermen are coming in for plenty of razzing.

Inspects Pass Mines

Mr. John Shank, general manager of Nordegg Collieries, is in the Pass this week inspecting mines in the district. He is well known to old-timers here having been superintendent of Coal Creek mine in 1912.

Owners of dogs had a messy job this week. Freshly laid tar used in road surfacing acted like tanglefoot to a fly when dogs ran onto it, and it required turpentine or gasoline to get it off their feet, which in turn made the dogs rather frantic until the stinging had worn off.
